You Have Choices in a Conflict Make Conflict Work for You

The Conflict Resolution workshop is designed for certified and non-certified practitioners who would like to steer conflict situations in constructive directions.

"Conflicts are a fact of life in teams. Team conflict is not good or bad in itself. Rather it has the potential for both positive and negative outcomes."

Adapted from: Introduction to Conflict and Teams (2004) by Kenneth W. Thomas and Gail Fann Thomas

Workshop Details

Psychological type and the MBTI® Tool can increase awareness of how people of the sixteen different personality types tend to present themselves in a conflict.

This workshop is designed to help practitioners discover how type and conflict are linked, explore the impact of preferences on conflict and learning a model for harnessing type awareness in conflict management. The objective is to provide invaluable insights into how to improve conflict approach and how to navigate through conflict with someone whose preferences differ.
